

“I’m voting yes to save my co-worker’s job.”

Darlene Wilson: Newark Unemployment Insurance

I support the Tentative Agreement because it is a good one given the current economic climate. It’s better than anything I’ve heard about for other public workers in the country. We don’t lose our contracted raise and we get a bank of paid leave days that we can either use or save to cash out. That, paired with no layoffs, means that I’m voting yes.

Deborah Gaines: Department of Law & Public Safety

I’m happy that the Agreement deals with the issue of temps doing our work. Having that language means that we will be able to preserve good union jobs and having a No Layoff Agreement means that my co-workers and I will have added security during tough times.

Lydia Diaz: Dept. of Labor Regional Call Center, Freehold

I support the Tentative Agreement because it safeguards our families’ well-being in this financial climate. Voting yes means protecting jobs, keeping contracted raises, honoring our pensions and collective bargaining. Because I care about my co-workers and our families, I am voting yes.

VOTE YES

to ratify the tentative agreement.

Cynthia Mozingo: Eatontown Motor Vehicle Agency

The Tentative Agreement is a win-win situation. It keeps people employed and the economy moving. State workers will get to keep working and the public will be happy to have us there to help with their needs. So, I am urging everyone to vote yes along with me.

Sam Elder: Plainfield Motor Vehicle Agency

I’m voting yes because in this economic climate, we can’t afford not to. It’s important that we stand together and stand firm on this, as we have for the past few months of mobilizing. I feel like the choice is clear because voting no means that we risk a large amount of layoffs, which would be disastrous. Voting yes will protect all of our jobs, not just some of them - it’s the responsible thing to do. That’s why I support the Tentative Agreement.

Naomi Monroe: Board of Nursing

We as state workers need to stand together and ratify this Agreement. It’s about saving jobs and not putting our brothers and sisters on the street during what has truly been an economic crisis. I’m voting yes to save my co-worker’s job.

Kevin Moxley: Department of Law & Public Safety

When I first heard about the Agreement I was concerned because we are delaying the raise. I have a number of years of seniority, and would probably be “safe” if there were layoffs. However, I changed my mind after getting more information. This Agreement is about protecting jobs and shared sacrifice. New Jersey is in real economic crisis. This agreement will save jobs and implement the furloughs fairly. If we vote this agreement down, there will be layoffs, there will still be furloughs, and our raise will be lost instead of deferred. That is why I am voting YES.
